Notice to Perpetuate Testimony
In the Superior Court of the County of Sonoma, State of California.
In the matter of the application of ISAAC LIEBES and CHARLES J. BEHLOW to perpetuate testimony.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT in pursuance of an order made by the Judge of the above-named Superior Court on the tenth day of May, 1888, authorizing and allowing the same, the testimony of Mrs. Anna M. Harding, residing in Sonoma County, State of California, will be taken in the above-entitled proceeding before F. Breitenbach, a Notary Public residing in the town of Sonoma, Sonoma County, State of California, at his office in said town, on WEDNESDAY, the 15th day of August, 1888, at 12 o'clock noon and at such other times to which the same may be continued.
The facts sought to be established by the said testimony are as follows, to-wit: That on or about the 22d day of December, 1873, the aforesaid Anna M. Harding, being then the wife of Isaac Harding, purchased of one Jabish Clement for the consideration of four thousand dollars or thereabouts, that certain lot of land in the town of Sonoma known and designated on the official map of the aforesaid town of Sonoma as outlot number (515) five hundred and fifteen. That the said consideration so paid was money which was the sole and separate property and estate of the said Anna M. Harding, and that the said property thereby became, and was at all times thereafter while owned by her, the separate property and estate of the said Anna M. Harding, and that her husband, Isaac Harding, had no right, title or interest in or to the same.
Witness my hand and the seal of the above-named Superior Court of the County of Sonoma, State of California, this 10th day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight (1888.)
[Seal of Court.] J. F. MULGREW, County Clerk and Ex-officio Clerk of the Superior Court of Sonoma County, California.

CONSTIPATION
IS called the "Father of Diseases," because there is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by the absorption of poisonous gases in the retention of decayed and effete matter in the stomach and bowels. It is caused by a Torpid Liver, not enough bile being secreted from the blood to produce Nature's own cathartic, and is generally accompanied with such results as
Loss of Appetite,
Sick Headache,
Bad Breath, etc.
The treatment of Constipation does not consist merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. To secure a regular habit of body without changing the diet or disorganizing the system

"My attention, after suffering with Constipation for two or three years, was called to Simmons Liver Regulator, and, having tried almost everything else, concluded to try it. I first took a wineglassful and afterwards reduced the dose to a teaspoonful, as per directions, after each meal. I found that it had done me so much good that I continued it until I took two bottles. Since then I have not experienced any difficulty. I keep it in my house and would not be without it, but have no use for it, it having cured me."—GEO. W. SIMS, Ass't Clerk Superior Court, Bibb Co., Ga.

PIANOS.
GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GREATEST merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLD'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design, and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by United States commissioners, from each of the States. Cases finest carved, rosewood finish; finest imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving therein; thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL not affected by extremes of climate. This will be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.
Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot stand permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, dries out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tunning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous growlings of dealers and agents, who see their chances of selling a poor piano at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pity them.
We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash.
A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $297.50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50; a $1500 Piano for $475.50.
Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occassionally have good second-hand pianos, made over at $100 to $300, which we take in part payment for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

PLAGUES OF EGYPT.

THE PHYSICAL EFFECTS OF A DRY, DUSTY ATMOSPHERE.

Pertinacity of the Egyptian Fly—Bad Luck to Drive Them Away—The Incessant Demand for Backshish—A Bed Among the Fleas.

I am writing this at "Cook's Luxor hotel," as good a house as one could wish. A large, rambling building in a fine garden running down to the river. It is embowered in noble palms and flowering trees and shrubs, and would be a charming retreat anywhere, but here surrounded by the hut mud hovels which make up an Egyptian village, with the burning sands and sterile mountains close by, it is simply delightful. We are the only occupants have the whole house, do what we please, and shall leave it with regret. Invalids in search of health could spend a month or two here not only delightfully, but in this wondrously dry atmosphere most advantageously in many classes of complaints. I need state only three facts to show the rapidity of evaporation in Upper Egypt. Water too warm to drink is put into a porous jar and placed in the wind, though in the sun, in a half hour it is as cool as good spring water. At night, exposed to a breeze, even when the breeze is rather warm, before morning it becomes almost ice cold. The night of my arrival here I took a pouring bath on a balcony. The wind was balmy, but fresh. The rapid evaporation so chilled me that I could not stay out long enough for my bath. At the foot of the cataract we took a swim in the Nile. We wore our underclothes for bathing suits. We hung them up before our staterooms to dry. In ten minutes they were dry enough to be worn. We have all heard of the universal habit of all Africans to anoint themselves with oil, and travelers speak of it as a nasty habit. It is, however, necessary in very hot and very dry climates to prevent the cracking of the skin. An English officer told me that during the hot winds on the Upper Nile his hands and face chapped worse than they ever did in a cold climate—chapped even to bleeding badly.

THE WIND AND THE FLIES.

I have found fresh white butter quite a pleasant on my hands as on my toast. The boys have felt no inconvenience from the winds. My hands are very sensitive to the effect of a dry, dusty atmosphere. At Assouan we were in the sun during two days. We did not use our umbrellas, our pith hats being quite comfortable, and yet we were just on the edge of the tropics. It has been rather too chilly to lie down on the top of our little steamer for any considerable time at night. We have had no musquito curtains on our boat, and have needed none, the breeze on the water making them unnecessary. It takes a hard blow, however, to keep flies away. The pertinacity of an Egyptian fly is beyond that of any other living creature. The natives never brush them away. They deem it bad luck to do so. Flies are never driven from a baby's face, and it does not seem annoyed by them. Its face is rarely washed, and is so dirty that it affords admirable forage ground for hundreds of the little brutes.
I watched a child of about 2 1-2 years enjoying a crust of bread. There was about it a swarm of flies, and I do not exaggerate when I say two or three dozens were on its face at one time in patches as big as a half dollar about the eyes and mouth. It would screw up its eyes when they threatened to go in. I thought some must have gone into its mouth with the bread. It did not seem at all annoyed. I saw a sleeping child on the street whose face was almost black with the insects. It smiled as if angels were whispering in its ears. I have seen men talking pleasantly together while a dozen flies would be promenading about their faces, apparently unnoticed by the owners of the faces. I asked a man how he could stand it. "Mashallah! They don't bother me," was his reply. This has made the fly bold and he seems utterly unable to understand what a foreigner means when he tries to drive him off. He has, too, remarkably prehensile claws, and keeps them keen and sharp when taking constitutional walks over European countenances. It was probably the knowledge of this quality which made these people pronounce it bad luck to drive them away. They found it best to educate the masses to bear the infliction and so get used to it.

THE DEMAND FOR BACKSHISH.

By the way, travelers are shocked by the incessant demand for backshish (gifts) throughout the mighty east. The thing is not to be wondered at, for all the beggars the world over knew there are none equal to the gods of the east. Their hands are everywhere represented extended for backshish. Their favor was won by offerings—their anger averted by sacrifices. Like the proboscis of a celebrated elephant, their hands could pick up a pin or carry off a cart-load of potatoes. They could make a lunch from a few grains of rice, the widow's mite, or they could devour a hecatomb of bullocks, the gifts of a prince. The gods took gifts and demanded them. The great and powerful, profiting by their example, took gifts and enforced the giving. The poor took gifts and begged for them. The well to do in the whole region of the early sun reach out the hand for commission. The poor clamor like hungry curs for crumbs and bones, and are not ashamed of their clamor.
I fear what I have said about Upper Egypt looks too much as if I was seeing it through rose glasses. Thirty-six years ago, when Bayard Taylor and I traveled in the east together, I suffered terribly from fleas. The only pun I remember him to have made was anent the little tormentor. He said Homer wrote the "Iliad," Virgil the "Æneid;" that if I ever wrote an epic it would be the "Flead." I had hoped we were about to escape this Egyptian plague, but yesterday, after lunching in one of the old tombs of the kings, we lay down for a nap on the sands, but my donkey boy, desiring to please the old man, whom he flatters by calling his "father," spread the blanket and saddle for me to have a nice siesta. Ah! moment of mad forgetfulness. I slept an hour, but the Nemesis came. This particular tomb is now called the "lunch tomb." Hundreds have lunched in it this season, though it is where no living thing is seen, and apparently nothing can live, yet the sanded floor was full of my mortal enemies, brought to it by the many donkey boys, who in its shade rest while their employers are wandering among the mighty caves of the dead. I have passed a good part of my time since then as a hen with one chick does in an empty chicken yard—scratching. I am like certain officials not far from the old court house in Chicago—only more so. They have itching palms. I am all palm. I itch all over and am raw in patches.—Ex Mayor Carter H. Harrison's Thebes Letter in Chicago Times.

A CELESTIAL ANÆSTHETIC.

Operating on a Chinese Laundryman's Thumb—Substitute for Cocaine.

It is my pleasure and privilege to be the friend of an amiable and intelligent gentleman of the Chinese persuasion, whose occupation is to "washee, washee, two dollar and a half a dozen." His prices are somewhat exorbitant, but he is a great lavatory artist, and, like Meissonier, he can afford to ask more than ordinary persons. Three days ago I received word from him that he was very unwell and my wash would not be home at the usual date; also that he would like to see me. I therefore at my first leisure moment betook myself to the laundry, where my friend may usually be seen any time from 6 in the morning until 11 at night, clothed with cheerfulness and a few cotton garments, his clean shaven head wound about with a long and silken queue and industriously occupied with his iron. The "dull, sickening thud" of the warm flat iron, however, was silent in the shop of Lee Loo on the occasion of my visit, and the gentleman himself reclined in what looked like a small bureau drawer, but was supposed to be his bed, in the back of the shop. This was hung about with red cotton curtains, and these had strips of paper covered with Chinese characters pinned to them.
These I learned were prayers. It saved time when he tumbled into bed at night, tired out, to simply point to these and mention to Buddha that those were his sentiments and he entirely indorsed them. They had been somewhat lacking in their power to ward off evil, because Lee Loo looked very yellow and very miserable coiled up in his bureau drawer. He informed me that he had a felon on his thumb, which caused him the most unspeakable anguish and prevented him from laundering. He had neglected it and it had grown very bad indeed, and now the Chinese doctor was coming from Mott street and had suggested that it might be necessary to cut off his finger, which made his mental anguish greater than the physical suffering. At this juncture the doctor came, and the solemn importance of his manner would have done credit to Dr. Morell Mackenzie himself. After examining the finger he calculated to postpone the amputation and endeavor to save it by lancing and careful treatment. Lee Loo shrunk from even this with great fear, since the slightest touch to his thumb appeared to be excruciating.
Here comes the point of this story. The doctor got out his instruments, and while he was occupied thus sent Lee Loo's partner to the nearest grocery for a few tablespoonfuls of flour. He then took from one of his many mysterious pockets an odd looking glass box which contained a live frog; over the frog he sprinkled the flour and then pricked him gently several times with a long pin. Under this provocation the frog exuded a viscid fluid which turned the flour into paste. This the doctor carefully scraped off of him and returned him to the box. The paste he dissolved in a small cup of tepid water and in this water made Lee Loo place his afflicted finger. As the effect of this curious treatment began to be felt the distortion of the afflicted Celestial's countenance began to disappear, and in ten minutes the doctor removed the finger from the water and calmly operated upon it without evidently causing the patient any more pain than he would in trimming his nails. I stood by open mouthed, and when the doctor rose to go I followed him and made inquiries as to what I had seen. He assured me that this anæsthetic, which evidently supplies the place of cocaine to the Chinaman, has been known in China for many hundred years and in common use there for deadening the part that was to be cut. Of course they have never analyzed it—they only know that it is so—but every Chinese doctor has in his medicine chest one or two frogs to be used in this way. This is so remarkable a fact that it should be known in order that American chemists can experiment with it.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Food Question in Italy.

The food in Italy is, I suppose, admirably adapted to the needs of her people; but an American takes it because nourishment is necessary in order to do his touring and get home again. The average Yankee is hungry from the time he leaves New York till several hours after he lands there on his return. The first Italian breakfast is a mere form; the second, or luncheon, is better, fuller and more enjoyed, because the guests by this time have arrived at a certain omnivorous emptiness; the third meal, or dinner, is a long drawn, gastronomic tribulation, lasting between an hour and a quarter and two hours.
An Italian table d'hote! Who that has ever endured can forget it? Two long rows of people, most of them strangers to each other, face to face on opposite sides of a long table. Solemnly they sit there eyeing the clock, eyeing the empty dishes, eyeing the uncertain and hungry future. Two solemn looking waiters, conspicuous for spike tail coats and mammoth shirt bosoms, enter, cast a proprietary look down the line and proceed at their leisure to bestow upon each of their subjects a dish of soup, consisting of a limited number of spoonfuls. Slowly and solemnly it is eaten; then the company is given time to reflect and to settle the soup. After a while fish is lavished upon the assembly, then comes another interlude of emptiness, and perhaps a fillet of beef or mutton; everything lifted solemnly or shoved furiously over your shoulder by one of the tyrants in spike tailed coats, and in most cases the guest is required to ladle, fork, slice or spoon his own portion out of the general dish. Poultry, maltreated potatoes, oil deluged salads, and from one to ten other courses of more or less evasive, non-nutritive inedibles follow at intervals of several minutes each, till one feels like a birdling in a nest, so fed is he by installments. During this time you have an opportunity of buying a bottle of the hotel's wine at three prices per pint, and telling all your business to some adjacent, inquisitive fellow traveler.—Will Carleton in New York Star.

Beware of Quinine.

A writer in a medical journal says: "Beware of too much quinine. It will produce a congestion of the ear and irritation of the auditory nerve. The common habit of taking quinine for neuralgia and other ailments without consulting a doctor is altogether reprehensible and may lead to very serious results. Many cases of deafness are produced by overdoses and long continued use of the drug."—Chicago Herald.

Iron Replacing Steel.

One of the most remarkable mechanical changes of the day is the setting aside of steel and the readoption of iron for some of the most important parts of locomotives on many railroads. It is only comparatively a few years since the change was made, on most roads, from iron to steel.—New York Sun.

IMPORTANT EVENTS.

Events fraught with great importance to this valley take place to-day. We refer to the great auction sale of town lots and acre tracts at El Verano and the opening for traffic of the new railroad line to San Francisco via Tiburon. For years the beautiful, fruitful and healthful Sonoma Valley has nestled at the very threshold of the great and growing City of San Francisco, neglected, unhonered and unsung. This has been due in a great measure to her isolation from the main railroad system of the State. But the completion of the Santa Rosa and Carquinez Railroad the other day joined Sonoma Valley in steel bands to the great trunk lines of the continent and at once placed her in a position to hold her own as one of the most desirable places for investment and residence on the Pacific Coast. The promoters of El Verano, at whose his head is Chas. Crocker of the Southern Pacific Company, are men of capital and brains, and did they not see a bright and glorious future in store for this valley their fortunes would not have been cast here.

It is stated from a reliable source that the railroad rates from the East are to be lowered in August to a figure which will bring to the State this fall and winter a greater influx of Eastern tourists and immigrants than ever before, and this incoming stream are seeking for just such choice spots as Sonoma Valley. City people, too, will be attracted hither in search of a home in the country, owing to the improved railroad facilities of the Donahue system, which now makes this valley a suburb of San Francisco.

DOUBTFUL STATES AND THE PRESIDENCY.

The recent nominations made at St. Louis and Chicago were but a part of the programme which the National Nominating Conventions of both the great parties have studiously carried out since the war—that is to say, the selection of candidates for President and Vice President from the doubtful States of New York, Ohio and Indiana. For sixteen years these States have had a monopoly in Presidents and Vice Presidents, and it now looks as though there was little or no chance for the ambitious man to reach the Presidency unless he be a citizen of either the Buckeye, Empire or Hoosier State.

For the first time since 1860 the Republican party took a new departure four years ago in selecting its nominee for the Presidency, and instead of taking its candidate from one of the three States named above the party took its chances on a Maine man, Jas. G. Blaine, and suffered its first National defeat in twenty-four years. Profiting by that lesson the Chicago Convention last Monday returned to its time-honored custom, and the result was the nomination of Gen. Harrison of Indiana for President and Levi P. Morton of New York for Vice President.

Fifteen hundred persons were drowned in the recent Mexican floods at Leon alone. In some of the districts the water is full of dead bodies, floating thick as driftwood. Measures have been taken all over Mexico to raise funds. It is expected passengers will be taken over the Mexican Central Road through the flooded area in the next two days, with one transfer.

The latest thing in envelopes is an article which will turn black, blue and red when any inquisitive person attempts to open it by the use of steam or water.

Frank Meritt, at one time editor of this paper, has sold out his interest in the Healdsburg Enterprise and will soon depart for Michigan.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

Washington, June 22, 1888.

It has been difficult to keep a quorum in either House of Congress this week. Our lawmakers have been busily attending the news from the Chicago Convention. The Senate especially, could scarcely have presented a more languid or listless appearance or shown more indifference to ordinary legislative business than during the past few days. There were three possible Presidential candidates in the Chamber, however—Senators Sherman, Allison and Hawley—who lent interest to the scene. It was noticeable, too, these gentlemen could not be contented long in one place, but moved around, in and out of the chamber as if their thoughts were elsewhere.

The Senate has never been accused of being illiberal with the people's money, and some recent voting sustains its record for generosity. It has passed the bill appropiating $500,000 for the erection of an additional fire-proof structure for the National Museum. This is on the ground that increased facilities for displays are needed, the present structure not affording sufficient room. It also passed a bill appropriating $160,000 for the purchase of a pneumatic gun for the War Department, and it is likely to pass another carrying an appropriation of $100,000 for the construction of a marble portico at the western front of the Capitol.

The House of Representatives, on the other hand, has had a sharp discussion about spending so much money. It was over the Congressional Library building which is in course of erection east of the Capitol; $3,000,000 were appropriated for its erection when the bill was passed, and now four or five million more are wanted. Some members held that $3,000,000 was to be the ultimate cost of the structure, while others thought that $7,000,000 and even $10,000,000 would not be excessive for a National Library building here. Representative Sawyer, of New York referred to the new state building at Albany, which was commenced to cost $4,000,000. It had already cost $16,000,000, and there was no telling how much more it would cost. He did not object to a National Library building costing $7,000,000, but he thought the idea so prevalent of making Washington the centre of wealthy and social display was the greatest curse of the National Capitol. He said this idea had grown so that any man in public life is forced to spend more than his salary in order to maintain social relations.

Representative Milliken derided the penny wise policy, and argued that as the library is growing, the idea is not to erect a building for to-day but for the next hundred years. He insisted that any change of plan in order to save money would be foolish, and declared that he would not incur public condemnation by voting for any cheap structure.

After much wrangling, it was finally decided by a vote of 114 to 50, one more than a quorum, to stop work on the Library building, to abolish the present commission, repeal the act that was passed, and that the Senate and House committees on public buildings, acting together, shall procure plans for a library structure which shall not cost over $3,000,000.

The people of Washington are much pleased, as are doubtless the people throughout the entire country, that the movement to celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America is beginning to take definite and substantial shape. The bill providing for a permanent exposition of the three Americas here in 1872 having been reported favorably some days since from the House Foreign Affairs Committee, the feature which ensures the success of the undertaking is that authorizing the President to appoint a governmental board of nine directors to formulate a plan for the proposed exposition, which appropriates $23,000, to be immediately available for the expenses of this board.

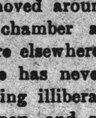
If the project be properly carried out it will be of great benefit to the country at large, as well as the city of Washington. It will establish here a permanent exposition which will illustrate the progress of the arts, sciences, inventions and industries of every Government upon the American Continent.

The Philadelphia celebration of 1876, to commemorate the Centennial of our independence as people, is the only international exposition ever held in this country as yet, and the good that resulted from it is still apparent throughout every avenue of trade and commerce. The exposition now proposed is in honor of a still greater event in the world's history than the formation of the United States. It will also be upon a much larger scale and still farther reaching in its results.

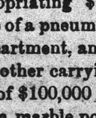
Advertisers.

"It doesn't pay to advertise in a country newspaper." Nobody reads advertisements." The above are expressions you sometimes hear, and they are usually expressed by the "slow and go easy" merchant who never gives his home paper more than a two-inch ad—and, in many cases, none at all. During the past two weeks we have received letters, in answer to advertisements in the "Herald' from various places several hundred miles east of here—Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and other places.

The men that make the greatest howl about the worthlessness of advertising are the men that never gave it a fair trial. Ask the firms who are constantly filling the newspapers with advertisements, and they will tell you they owe their immense trade to the newspapers. Scan your eye over the papers, notice the firms represented then go and call on them and you will find that they wear a smile—something like this:



because, no matter how dull times are they are getting their share of the trade. But also call on the man who doesn't advertise, and "ten to one" you will find him sitting in the back part of the store, his feet cocked up on a dry goods box, and bitterly complaining of the "dull times," that there is no money in the business and he is losing money every day. He looks something like this:



If you are a business man don't number yourself among the latter, advertise liberally, make lots of money and look happy.—San Marcos Herald.

It Will be Built.

We were informed by Wm. H. Mills of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, Wednesday, that a bridge across the straits below Benicia would in due course of business be built. Surveys and estimates have been made and a general plan agreed upon. Where the main channel is narrowest, without reference to space between land points, the structure will be located. This will be just above Valleje Junction. The company finds that it would have been money in the railroad pocket had the bridge been built in place of the transfer steamer Solano. The cost of keeping up the present transfer service is very great and a yearly increasing business has overgrown and made inadequate present facilities. The bridge completed and a road over it in operation, the running time between Napa and San Francisco will be shortened forty minutes.—Napa Register.

Thought it Would Kill Him.

Coffeeville, Miss., Feb 20, 1888.

Gentlemen: I suffered with exzema for nearly two years, and was treated by three physicians, but they could do me no good. I spoke of trying S. S. S. and they told me it would kill me, but I tried any way, and after taking six or eight bottles, I was completely cured, and have never been bothered since with it, and I feel it a duty to you and suffering humanity to make this statement.

Gentlemen: Our baby when two weeks old was attacked with a scrofulous affection that for a time destroyed her eyesight entirely, and caused us to despair of her life. She was treated by the best physicians without benefit. We finally gave her Swift's Specific, which soon relieved her completely, and she is now as hale and hearty a child of three as can be found anywhere. E. V. Delk.

Waco, Texas, May 9, 1888.

Gentlemen: The wife of one of my customers was terribly afflicted with a loathsome skin disease that covered her whole body. She was confined to her bed for several years by this affliction, and could not help herself at all. She could not sleep from a violent itching and stinging of the skin. The disease baffled the skill of physicians who treated it. Her husband began finally giving his wife Swift's Specific, and she commenced to improve almost immediately, and in a few weeks she was apparently well. She is now a hearty, fine-looking lady, with no trace of the affliction left. Yours very truly, J. E. Sears,

The Old Howitzer.

The small cannon, or howitzer, which has occupied a position in front of W. C. Good & Co.'s hardware store for many years past, has an interesting history. It was purchased in 1873 by Captain Neblet and A. P. Pettit, from the captain of a Maine merchantman in the harbor of San Francisco. The gun was to have been used in celebrating the election of Samuel Tilden, but some one impelled by their disappointment at the supposed defeat of Hayes, spiked the gun, and when its services were in requisition it was found to be in no condition for use. It was subsequently prepared for action on another political occasion, but was again spiked in some mysterious way. It has been used on several patriotic occasions since then, but for three years past has occupied the humble position of an advertising sign. Its history prior to its advent in this city, it is told, was much more romantic. It was in the possession of the sea captain from whom it was purchased for thirty or forty years, and its age, he estimated, to be over seventy years. Its service had always been on the high seas. It first composed a part of the armament of a German trading vessel. The trader was overhauled by pirates in the Caribbean sea, and among the booty was the howitzer, then regarded as a gun very valuable for short distance fighting. It saw active service on board the pirate craft for a number of years and was finally captured by a British cruiser in 1839 after several day's chase and desperate conflict. It is related that in the midst of the conflict when the pirate crew had forsaken their guns in preparations to meet the attack of the boarders, the daughter of the pirate commander appeared on deck and took her station beside the gun and encouraged the men to the attack. The pirates fought like demons, but were outnumbered, and the hand to hand conflict was as decisive as it was terrible. The pirates were almost annihilated, and the British loss was many in killed and wounded. Among the slain was the pirate captain's daughter. Her graceful form was found reclining against the carriage of the old gun, and her long dark hair hung like a curtain over its mouth, as if to forever preserve its silence in honor of the death of its mistress.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

NEW TO-DAY.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to feet. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy." W. B. A WOMAN'S WAY.

A Startling Business Proposition.

A little over six weeks ago Mrs. Fowler of 327 Ellis street, San Francisco, stopped in at a leading city druggist's to ask what effect Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, about which she had heard so much recently, would have in cases of dyspepsia and sick headache. She was assured that in most cases it would relieve both. She was, however, so incredulous that finally the druggist gave her a bottle, not to be paid for unless it effected a cure. A proposition so startlingly practical has seldom, if ever before, been made. The following just received is the convincing conclusion, and tells its own story:

San Francisco, February 8, 1888.

Dear Sirs: I write to admit that, notwithstanding my misgivings, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did all that you promised. I had tried so many prescriptions, to no purpose, that I had come to believe nothing would relieve my dyspepsia and sick headaches, but I have not had a return of either since I commenced taking it. I believe I am permanently cured, but will, out of an abundance of caution, continue to take it regularly for a while yet. You have my permission to make this public, for it is my belief that a remedy that will cure dyspepsia and prevent sick headaches should be generally known. Respectfully,

Mrs. M. Fowler,
327 Ellis street.

A LUCKY TRIAL.

Dear Sir: It affords me great pleasure to send you this voluntary statement of my experience in testing the merits of Joy's Sarsaparilla. For the past five years I have been troubled with an exceedingly sluggish liver, and within the past two years it has brought within its trail a thoroughly disordered stomach, including loss of appetite and distress after eating, pains in the back and kidneys, and boils around my neck and face. I have tried several remedies which are advertised as specially for the liver, and never could get more than temporary relief of about a week or two. I was recommended to try a bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla as a test, and while taking the first bottle I became convinced of its merits for I could feel it was working a change in me. I have taken five bottles, and during that time my troubles have left me. Everything is working full and regular, in fact it has cleansed, purified and braced me up generally. I feel like a new man. You are at perfect liberty to use this as you see fit, or you can refer whom you please to

What Is Two Bits?

It is a small amount; but suppose you save that much on every dollar you spend. It would be quite a nice sum at the end of the year. Many a man at the head of a family is lamenting the fact that he cannot afford to dress his wife and children like other people, and get the little conveniences about the home that help to make everything run smoothly and sweetly. And yet if all his dollars, or even most of them, had been spent through the year at SMITH'S CASH STORE, he would find himself with all these things paid for and almost have

Money to Throw Away

He would feel so rich. No one can be made to believe the difference till they try it. And so much better goods than you get on credit. It is almost a shame that so many nice, bright children have to go shabby and have their education neglected only because you insist on buying at credit stores at prices that will always keep you poor. We would not say so, but we like to see everybody do the best they can with their money, and have the best the market affords at market price. Try trading one year for cash where you will not be imposed on, even if you never go near the store but send all your orders by mail. The weather has been exceedingly windy the past week, and pedestrians as they wend their way along our streets, notwithstanding the sprinkling cart, look dis-dusted.

Supervisor John O'Hara of Penn's Grove was in town last Tuesday on business connected with the new iron bridges being constructed across Sonoma creek at Agua Caliente and this place.

Messrs. Bohni & Sutter of the Sonoma Meat Market now keep on hand a fresh supply of fruits and vegetables of all kinds. Also, canned goods of every description. See their new adv in another column.

On the 12th inst., a letter addressed to John Ross, Sonoma, and written in German, was lost between this place and the Brewster ranch, on Agua Caliente creek. The finder is requested to leave the same at this office and receive a reward of $5.

The iron bridge across Sonoma creek connecting this place with El Verano will be completed the fore part of next week. It is a $3800 structure, and will be a great accommodation to one or two farmers on the other side of the creek, and looks very pretty.

Mr. George Pabst, having recently purchased the tin and hardware store belonging to the estate of the late J. U. Waters, is now prepared to do all work in his line in a first-class and workmanlike manner. Special attention given to plumbing gas-fitting and tin work of all kinds.

Read the mammoth adv of the Sonoma Valley Improvement Company, which appears on the fourth page of this issue. The auctioneers conducting the sale for the company, Messrs. Briggs, Fergusson & Co., at the recent real estate sale in Merced disposed of $387,000 worth of town lots alone.

Farmers, ranchmen, sheep and cattle herders will find a great benefit, and oftentimes save the hard-won earnings of years—which might otherwise have to be expended on physicians, to say nothing of the discomfort of swallowing their nauseating mixtures—by keeping on hand a supply of Frese's Hamburg Tea.

Louis Ferero, whose ranch is located near Agua Caliente, had two horses stolen on Sunday night last. The animals were found the following morning on Carneros creek, Napa county, where the thieves, fearing pursuit and capture, had abandoned them. The thieves made good their escape and it is doubtful if they will ever be apprehended.

E. M. Brickey, the druggist, who was burned out in this place, on Tuesday night of last week, and who had an insurance of $1800 on his stock in the New Zealand Insurance Company, was paid the entire amount last Saturday. His policy had been issued but nine days before the fire. Mr. Brickey, who is stopping temporarily in San Francisco, has not yet made up his mind as to whether he will return and resume business or not.

The Native Sons in addition to giving a grand ball in this place on the evening of the Fourth have decided to give a pic-nic at Pioneer Grove, to which the public is cordially invited to attend. The following programme has been prepared for the occasion: Introductory remarks, Hon. Robt. Howe, President of the Day; song, "Star Spangled Banner," Mrs. J. M. Patton; reading Declaration of Independence, Fred T. Duhring; recitation, Misses Murphy and Saukey; poem, Sam Booth; oration Hon. J. S. Enos.

THE DONAHUE EXTENSION.

Completed to Sears' Point — New Time Table.

It has been officially announced by General Superintendent Whiting of the San Francisco and North Pacific and Sonoma Valley Railroads that the connection between the two roads has been made and that on and after to-day passengers from Sonoma and way stations will be transported over the new route via Tiburon. This is good news to the people of this valley, as the new arrangement will reduce the time between Sonoma and San Francisco at least one hour. For the present the narrow guage road from Glen Ellen to Sears' Point will be operated as such. At the latter place a change of cars will be made and passengers will be transferred from a narrow to a broad guage road. This arrangement, however, will be temporary only, as it is Col. Donahue's intention to broaden out at no distant day his narrow guage road in this valley its entire distance, and thus have a continuous standard guage road from Glen Ellen to Tiburon.

More Artesian Water.

Mention has been made from time to time in these columns the past three months of the success of W. F. Bean in his artesian well boring operations in this city. Last week two fine artesian wells were struck on the vineyard of Henry Winkle and on Rhine Farm, the property of J. Gundlach. The places adjoin each other and are less than two miles east of Sonoma. From the latter well at a depth of 110 feet a flow of 100,000 gallons per 24 hours was obtained, while the former gushes out of the earth at a depth 82 feet at the rate of 90,000 gallons per day. These wells are worth thousands of dollars to their owners, and cost less than $200 each.

A Snipe Hunt.

A sniping expedition was held in Graham Canyon, near Kohler & Frohling's ranch, Glen Ellen, one day last week. The party started out at 10 o'clock in the evening and upon reaching the canyon the victim was stationed at a selected point and given a large wool sack and a lighted candle, the flame of which was to attract the snipe to the sack and lead to their capture. The rest of the party, numbering a dozen or more, scattered through the hills ostensibly to drive the snipe into the canyon toward the sack and lighted candle, but in reality to return home. The sack-holder after waiting patiently until 3 A. M. for the snipe to arrive began to realize that he had been the victim of a practical joke and throwing the sack away lit out for the ranch. After floundering around in the hills until daylight he finally reached the ranch at 6 A. M, a sadder if not a wiser man.

Heavy Suit for Damages.

George H. Maxwell of this valley has brought suit in the Superior Court of Alameda county to recover $100,000 damages from H. D. and Frank P. Bacon. On the 7th of last month there appeared an article in the Oakland "Morning Times" which charged the plaintiff with unfair dealing in his land and water schemes in this valley. The complaint charges that the defendants caused the publication of the article in question, and hence the suit.

How to Market Plums.

Yellow plums have been almost unsaleable for many years, the market having been glutted with them. They have sold as low as half a cent per pound. Last year an orchardist in Vacaville determined to see if he could not make his crop pay better, dried the fruit whole, sulphuring them a very little. The result was all that could be desired, the fruit turning out so well that it sold for 14 cents per pound. This method of curing plums of other varieties might prove profitable.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and am able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made." Jessie Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. EL VERANO.

Auction Sale of Town Lots and Acre Tracts.

The mucbed-talked-of auction sale of town lots and acre tracts at El Verano takes place to-day. The site is located in a lovely spot on the line of the Santa Rosa and Carquinez Railroad, and the fact that Chas. Crocker of the Southern Pacific Company stood sponsor for the new town is sufficient guarantee of its becoming in the near future a place of considerable importance. To those seeking investment a good chance is now offered. The fate of El Verano is in the hands of those whose names afford assurance of its success. They never yet undertook an enterprise they did not carry out. Where they locate a town, there a town will be.

Remember that the proper time to buy land or town property is when the real estate market is quiet. Invest now, and when the tide of eastern immigration or the advent of a new Eastern overland route, which will surely come ere long, creates the same excitement which it brought about in Southern California, as it is certain to do, you will be in a position to reap the full benefit of the increase in real estate values.

Riparian Rights Decision.

The Supreme Court last Thursday decided the case of Gould vs. Stafford. The plaintiff, who is also the appellant, is the owner of land on a running stream and brought the action to enjoin the defendant, an upper riparian proprietor, from diverting water from a main branch of the creek, a short distance above the plaintiff's land, and for damages for past diversion. The case is similar to that of Chauvet vs. Hill, now pending in the Superior Court of this county. The Supreme Court says: Assuming that in this State, an upper riparian proprietor has the right to use a reasonable amount of the water of a natural stream running through his premises, for irrigating his riparian land, still he has not the right, for that purpose, to take all the water which flows in the stream at the point where he diverts it; and if the defendent did, as the evidence tends to show, thus take all the water flowing at the point where it was diverted, his act in so doing was wrongful. It is clear that in no case can he, for that purpose, as against a lower proprietor, use all the water of the stream. That could be done, if at all, only where the whole of the water was absolutely necessary for strictly domestic purposes, and to furnish drink for man and beast. Whatever may be the right of an upper proprietor to use a part of the water of the stream to irrigate his riparian land, he has no right to take any of it away to other lands not riparian. Moreover, he must see to it that the surplus water, after use, be returned to the stream,

COUNTY CULLINGS.

Santa Rosa will not celebrate the Fourth this year.

A fire in the fields of the Cotate ranch, near Petaluma, on Thursday of last week, destroyed fifty tons of hay and thirty acres of pasturage.

A laborer named Hank Wright, while working on the Cloverdale and Ukiak railroad extension, on Friday of last week, had his leg broken by a flying rock from a blast.

Edward Awley, a watchmaker, formerly in the employ of J. F. Sawyer, was found dead in his bed at the Eagle Hotel, Santa Rosa, Tuesday. An inquest held by Coroner Tivnen developed the fact that he died from natural causes.

The school census of this county shows only a slight increase of census children the past year. Last year the number of children was 8,441 and this year 8,453. That the report is inaccurate does not admit of a doubt, as surely the increase greatly exceeds twelve, as denoted by the above figures.

Two young men from San Francisco passed through town Monday on a hunting expedition to the mountain west of town. They drove a $40 horse and led a $100 dog and will undoubtedly adorn their belt with the scalp of a 14 cent jack rabbit ere they return. Healdsburg Enterprise.

A Vine-Lifting Device.

P. Waltenbaugh of this valley has a contrivance for lifting fallen vines while cultivating or clod-mashing. Two narrow strips of steel are joined at one end so as to form an angle of about 30 degrees. The other end of one of the strips is then fastened to the cultivator, clod-masher or weed-cutter, in such a way to allow the lower strip to extend forward, from one corner and just escape the ground. The joined ends thus slip under the fallen bushes, and the upper strip gently lifts them, while the cultivator or other implement passes under. Two are used, one on each side. In this way it is possible to stir the soil of the vineyard and break the capillary tubes throughout the season.—Livermore Herald.

A Stab in the Dark

Sometimes fails of its murderous intent. The insidious and dastardly attacks made upon the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters by persons who seek to palm off cheap and fiery tonics as identical with it, or "the same thing under another name," or "equally as good," in most instances react disastrously upon the unprincipled traders upon popular credulity who attempt them, converting their speculations into ruinous failures. The Bitters is a pure, wholesome and thorough medicine, adapted to the total cure and prevention of fever and ague, bilious remittent, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, debility, nervousness and kidney troubles. Its every ingredient, unlike those in the imitations of it, is of an ascertained standard of excellence, and while they, by reason of their fiery properties, react injuriously upon the brain and nervous system, of both those organs it is a sedative and invigorant. Refuse all these harmful imitations.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.
